LIZZIE'S STORY

"I have been living on the streets for 10 years, since I was 15. I've been like this because my parents threw me out on the streets and I have never been able to get onto my feet since.

Even your family desert you when you're on the streets, which is hard. I haven't spoken to any of mine in probably four years.

It is soul crushing and lonely to live like this, and when people who don't even know you judge you for it, it makes it harder. Finding a place to have a shower is nearly impossible. I remember the first time you guys were down at the foreshore, it had been two weeks since I had a shower. I think it was the best nights sleep I'd had in ages because I got to sleep on clean sheets, it was awesome. People don't look down on you so much when you've got clean clothes on. Makes you feel like a real person again.

For the people that do live like this, you guys are a lifesaver."
